Volltext	Your ID card is invalid after a name change. If your surname has changed, for example after getting married or entering into a civil partnership, you must apply for a new ID card. The same applies to your children if their names also change when you get married. If the children are under the age of 16, applying for a new ID card is voluntary and only depends on the extent to which an ID document is required for cross-border travel. There is one exception: as long as you have a valid passport document, i.e. passport or temporary passport, with the new name, you do not need to apply for a new ID card. You can submit the application to your local citizens' office at your main place of residence. If you need your new ID card immediately after marriage with a change of name or after establishing a civil partnership with a change of name, for example for a trip abroad, you can apply for your ID card with the new name at the earliest 8 weeks before the planned date of marriage or establishment of a civil

If you want to apply for a new ID card due to a change of name, proceed as follows:

- You make an appointment at your local Citizens' Registration Office. If you do not apply for your ID card at your main place of residence, you will need an important reason and will have to pay a surcharge on the fee.
