Teaser	The municipalities levy development charges for the initial construction of development facilities (in particular for the roads intended for construction) from the owners of the properties that are developed by the development facility.
Volltext	The (in particular) road development is a prerequisite for building on a property. After completion of the development work, the municipality levies a development contribution from the owners of the developed properties within a four-year assessment period on the basis of the actual costs incurred.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	The development charge is calculated by the responsible local authority and determined by notice without - as a rule - requiring the cooperation of the property owner liable to pay the charge.
Voraussetzungen	The prerequisite for the collection of a development charge is the enactment of a municipal development charge statute.
Kosten	The development charge notice is issued free of charge.
Verfahrensablauf	The development charge is levied after completion of the development work within a four-year assessment period. It is payable after notification of the development charge notice.
