Teaser	The land register provides information about the legal circumstances of a property. You can inspect the land register under certain conditions.
Volltext	For example, the land register provides you with information on <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • who is the owner of a piece of land, • whether third parties have rights to a property and, if so, what these rights are, for example, encumbrances or easements, or • whether there are priority notices or certain restrictions on disposal. A priority notice secures a claim to transfer of ownership under a purchase agreement or other arrangement. For example, prior to the purchase of a plot of land, any rights of third parties to the seller's property can be determined by inspecting the land register in order to avoid taking over a plot of land with value-reducing encumbrances of which the buyer is unaware, for example a lifelong residential right of a third party. However, since most land transfers require notarization, the land register inspection is usually performed by the notary who is entrusted with the land transaction and informs the parties to the contract in this regard. If you wish to inspect the land register only once or occasionally, you can apply for inspection at the land registry office. Sachverhalt

- inspect the land register at a notary public for a fee.

In principle, citizens do not have direct online access to the land register. Authorities, notaries, courts and publicly appointed surveyors can, under certain conditions, obtain unrestricted online access to the land register (unrestricted retrieval procedure).

Persons or bodies for whom a large number of land register inspections or special urgency is to be expected can be admitted to the restricted retrieval procedure, for which a justified interest must be assured for each online retrieval. Such persons or entities may be, for example:

- Lawyers who carry out compulsory enforcement proceedings
- Insurance companies
- banks or
- Utility companies

Erforderliche Unterlagen

- Passport or identity card
- if the property is not yours: documents showing your legitimate interest (e.g. declaration of consent by the owner)

Voraussetzungen

General admission requirements:

- You must have a legitimate interest to inspect the land register.
- The justified interest to inspect the land register must be presented to the land registry office. In individual cases, the land registry may require a prima facie case or proof of the interest.
- The owner of the property and all holders of rights entered in the land register, for example creditors of a land charge, have a legitimate interest. In addition, an economic or public interest may also be sufficient, for example, land adjusters who want to obtain information about the neighboring owner, a tenant to determine whether the landlord is the owner or an heir.

Requirements for frequent inspection for professional reasons for certain professionals:

Modul

- compliance with the principles of proper data processing on the part of the recipients,
- that on the part of the office keeping the land register the technical possibilities of setting up and handling the procedure are given and that a disturbance of the business operations of the land register office is not to be expected, and
- it must be possible to check the retrievals on the basis of a log.

Kosten

- Inspection of the land register at the land registry: free of charge
- Issuance of a printout from the land register by the land registry: 10.00 EUR
- Issuance of an official printout: 20,00 EUR

If you want to inspect several times, you can request access to the land register portal. Please note that the available access procedures (restricted or unrestricted) are only available to certain (state) agencies and persons, but not to individual citizens. You make the request as follows:

Hinweise

To protect the owner, you may only inspect the land register if you can prove a legitimate interest. Creditors, for example, may inspect the land register if they wish to foreclose. Would you like to buy a property and inspect it for this reason? The owner must agree to this. Have them confirm in writing that they allow you to inspect the land register.
