Teaser	Would you like to work permanently in Germany in a craft or similar trade that does not require a license at master craftsman level? Then you can have your foreign professional qualification officially recognized in the skilled crafts sector.
Volltext	There are around 200 different trades in Germany. Of these, 53 professions require a license. This means that you may only work independently in these professions on a permanent basis if you have the necessary professional qualifications. Special regulations apply to these 53 regulated professions. All other professions in the skilled trades are not regulated. This means that if you want to work permanently on a self-employed basis in these professions, you do not need a specific professional qualification. However, you have the right to a recognition procedure. The procedure is called "equivalence assessment".

You will receive a decision on the outcome of the procedure. The decision will state any existing and any missing professional qualifications.

The decision enables employers to better assess your professional qualifications. For skilled workers from third countries, a recognition procedure is usually a prerequisite for the issue of a visa. Third countries are all countries outside the European Union (EU), the European Economic Area (EEA) and Switzerland.

The regional chambers of skilled crafts are responsible for determining equivalence in the skilled crafts sector. In some cases, the Chambers of Industry and Commerce are also responsible. The competent bodies will advise you before you submit your application and identify the appropriate occupation in the skilled crafts sector for you.

You can also apply for equivalence assessment from abroad.

Erforderliche Unterlagen

The responsible office will tell you which documents you need to submit. Important documents are generally

- Proof of identity (passport or identity card)
- Marriage certificate (if your name has changed due to marriage)
- Curriculum vitae

- Proof of training

- Have you ever applied for an equivalence assessment? If so, please state the body to which you submitted the application.
