Teaser	If you develop a screenplay or treatment for a children's film of special artistic quality, you can receive funding under certain conditions.
Volltext	As the author of a children's film, you can apply for federal film funding to create a screenplay or treatment. The funding is awarded as part of the cooperation between the Federal Government Commissioner for Culture and the Media (BKM) and the Kuratorium junger deutscher Film. The project must not have begun at the time of application. Children's films are those feature films, documentaries and animated films which, in particular through their themes, attitude and design, are aimed at children up to the age of 12 and are suitable for this group of people. Funding is available for • the creation of a German-language treatment of an original material for a program-length children's film (at least 59 minutes) or • the development of a German-language script of artistic quality for a program-filling children's film (at least 59 minutes). You can receive funding as a grant up to the following organizational point of view.

- Now create the treatment or screenplay.
- Afterwards, you must prove that you have used the funding for the intended purpose.
 - Submit an industry-standard treatment of usually 15 DIN A4 pages to the Kuratorium junger deutscher Film.
 - The Kuratorium junger deutscher Film will then check whether your treatment is suitable as a basis for writing a screenplay that could be funded by the Kuratorium and BKM as part of the children's film funding.
- For treatments:
 - Submit the completed screenplay to the Board of Trustees based on the recommendation of the project advisor.
 - The Board of Trustees will approve your screenplay.
 - During filming, you must refer to the funding in the opening credits, closing credits, or both, and include the logo of the Kuratorium junger deutscher Film and the BKM.
 - After filming, you must provide the Board of Trustees with a specimen copy of the film.
 - You grant the Board of Trustees the right to use funded films in the context of a self-promotion, alone or in cooperation with third parties, free of charge.
 - You must comply with the blocking periods that apply in accordance with the Film Funding Act at the time the funding agreement is concluded.
- For screenplays:

Bearbeitungsdauer

It takes approximately 12 weeks from the time you submit your application to the time a decision is made on your application.

Frist

You must submit the application before starting your project. As a rule, there are 2 submission deadlines per year. The current deadlines can be found on the websites of the Kuratorium junger deutscher Film and the BKM. The date of receipt by the Federal Archive applies.

Hinweise

If the Board of Trustees for Young German Film has already rejected funding for your project, you must revise and change it in essential points for a new funding application. You must then describe these changes in your application. As a rule, resubmission is only possible in the Long Film production funding category. The Board of the Curatorship of Young German Film decides on exceptions.
