Teaser	If an employee leaves your company, you must report the end of the employment relationship to social insurance.
Volltext	When the employment relationship between you and your employees ends, you must deregister these employees from social insurance. With the exception of mini-jobs in private households, the deregistration procedure is the same for all employees. For mini-jobs in private households, you must use the household check procedure at the mini-job center. You must submit deregistrations for social insurance electronically. If you use a system-checked payroll accounting program in your company, use this program to submit the notifications. This is done automatically. Alternatively, you can use a system-checked completion aid to submit the data to social insurance, for example the social insurance reporting portal. When deregistering, you also enter the remuneration subject to contributions for the reporting period.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	No documents are required.
Voraussetzungen	• There are no prerequisites.
Kosten	The service is basically free of charge. If you use the SV-Meldeportal, user fees will be charged.

Depending on whether you carry out payroll accounting in your own company or have outsourced it, you can prepare the deregistration yourself or have it prepared by your external service provider, such as a tax consultancy, a payroll office or a service data center.

- If you use a system-checked payroll accounting program, you can submit the notification from this program with the notification reason "30", end of employment.
- If you do not use a system-checked payroll accounting program, you can submit the notification using a system-checked completion aid such as the "SV-Meldeportal".
- If you use the SV-Meldeportal, proceed as follows: Go to the SV reporting portal website. If you do not yet have a user account, register for the first time. Log in with your login details, your ELSTER organization certificate and your company number. Under "Forms", select the "SI notification" tile and then the "Deregistration" form. Select the element "30 End of employment". Complete the form. All fields are provided with help texts. A manual is also available. You will find messages and feedback in your mailbox there. Save the notification electronically or print it out and add it to your remuneration documents.
