Sachverhalt

You can choose who supports you and you organize the services yourself. However, the necessary scope of support will be checked and agreed beforehand according to your individual needs. You obtain quotes and ask suitable professionals to take over your guidance and support and describe how their support should be provided in concrete terms. On this basis, your advisor decides and approves the amount of the benefit, for example.

You are also entitled to a training allowance during the support period. However, your training allowance will be deducted from this.

You will receive the training budget for as long as you need it. At most, however, until you have successfully completed your training.

If several people who are supported with a training budget work in the same company, they can also receive guidance or support together.

If you discover during your training that you would prefer to receive services in the entry procedure and vocational training area in a workshop for people with disabilities or with another service provider, you can switch. The periods of the budget for training will then be credited to the duration of the entry procedure and vocational training area, if applicable.
