Sachverhalt

Participation accompaniment helps you prepare for in-company training, retraining or employment subject to social insurance contributions. The support is provided by educational institutions on behalf of the employment agency.

Participation guidance is made up of 3 modules:

- Module 1 Vocational orientation: Here you will be helped to find out which professions and activities suit you best. Your interests, your health and mental capacity and also the requirements of the labor market are taken into account. Module 1 can be supplemented by individual practical days in companies.
- Module 2: Introduction to training, retraining or employment: You will be supported in finding a specific in-company training, retraining or job. Among other things, you will receive support in compiling your application documents and you will be prepared for job interviews. Module 2 can be supplemented by individual practical days in companies.
- Module 3 Securing training, retraining or employment: You will receive help in coping with everyday life in the company, for example through counseling sessions in the event of conflicts in the company. The aim is for you to be able to work in the primary labor market on a permanent basis. Your transition from training to employment can also be supported.

Depending on your individual needs, the participation support is made up of one or more modules. Each of the 3 modules lasts a maximum of 6 months. The scope of support comprises at least 2 hours per week during the entire approval period. If you need more support, up to 8 hours per week are possible. Qualified and experienced socio-pedagogical and rehabilitation specialists are at your side throughout the entire period of support.

The costs are covered by the employment agency.
