Teaser	As an airline or shipping company, you can apply for a simplification of the transit procedure. With this simplification, it is possible to use an electronic transport document as a transit declaration in the Union transit procedure.
Volltext	The Union transit procedure facilitates the movement of goods and customs formalities when transporting goods between two member states of the customs territory of the European Union (EU). Goods under the Union transit procedure are not cleared through customs until they reach their final destination, with no import duties or customs formalities due at border crossings during transportation. As an airline or shipping company, you can apply to use an electronic transport document as a transit declaration to place goods under the Union transit procedure. In order to use this simplified procedure, you must submit an electronic application. In air transport, you can also transport the goods
