Teaser	You can apply to the Federal Network Agency for authorization to participate in the amateur radio service.
Volltext	You need a license to participate in the amateur radio service in Germany. You can apply for this at the Federal Network Agency (BNetzA). The prerequisite is that you have passed an amateur radio examination in Germany or abroad. If you have passed your amateur radio examination abroad, please also apply for recognition of your certificate. This step is not necessary if it is a harmonized international amateur radio examination certificate (HAREC). The frequency ranges and maximum permissible transmission powers covered by your license depend on your amateur radio certificate. There are 2 different amateur radio certificate classes:

- Class E and
- class A.

With your license, you will also be assigned a personal callsign. The following personal data will be published in the callsign list and callsign query on the BNetzA website:

- Your first name,
- your surname and
- your amateur radio certificate class in connection with the amateur radio call sign assigned to you.

If you do not object, the following will also be published:

- Your address and
- the location of your amateur radio station.

You can object to the publication of your address and the location of your amateur radio station by

- stating this in the application or
- objecting to this in writing at a later date.

You can specify callsign requests in the application for authorization. However, there is no legal entitlement to specific callsigns.

Erforderliche Unterlagen

- Application form
- copy of your amateur radio certificate, your amateur radio examination certificate or equivalent proof, such as an invalidated certificate of a German amateur radio license or a harmonized amateur radio examination certificate (HAREC) according to CEPT recommendation T/R 61-02
- if the above documents do not contain details of your current main residence: Registration certificate from the residents' registration office
- if you are a minor: Certificate of authorization from your legal representative
- if you are not a citizen of a member state of the European Union or Switzerland: Residence permit (copy)

- If you apply for participation in the amateur radio service in writing by e-mail or post, you will also need the following means of identification: a copy of your identity card on both sides or a copy of your passport

Voraussetzungen

- You are not practicing amateur radio for commercial purposes.
- You have passed a German or equivalent foreign amateur radio examination.
- You live in Germany.
- You do not yet have a license for the amateur radio service. If this is the case, however, you must declare the renunciation of your previous license and the associated call sign when applying for the new license. You return your previous license certificate to the BNetzA.

Kosten

Gebühr: 20€

For official acts in connection with the application for participation in the amateur radio service with simultaneous allocation of a personal call sign, one-off fees are generally charged.

For the period in which you are licensed to participate in the amateur radio service, the Federal Network Agency levies fees on an ongoing basis. The amount of these contributions is determined in accordance with the Frequency Protection Contribution Ordinance. The basis for determining the contribution rates is the actual expenses and costs eligible for contributions incurred in a calendar year for the respective user group. These can only be determined retrospectively. A contribution forecast is not possible.
