Teaser	If, as a foreign food business, you sell fresh pork in Germany for final consumption that has been wholly or partly produced abroad, you can label it with the farming method of the animals. You need a permit for this.
Volltext	Animal husbandry labeling ensures transparency and clarity with regard to the way animals are kept. If your company is based in another EU country or in a third country, you can apply for voluntary labeling from the Federal Agency for Agriculture and Food (BLE). This applies to your food of animal origin that • are sold for final consumption in Germany, • are fresh pork, including minced meat or by-products of slaughter, • originate from animals which, at the relevant stage of rearing, were kept, slaughtered or were cut up or • consist of meat products that were produced or treated abroad. You submit the application for approval to the Federal Office for Agriculture and Food (BLE). The permit is granted for 2 years. In the application, you provide information on • the way in which the animals are kept
