Hinweise	Vehicles that were produced for export did not receive an ABE from the Motor Vehicle Technical Office (KTA) of the former German Democratic Republic (GDR) and therefore do not fall under the exemption regulation of the Unification Treaty. The Federal Motor Transport Authority cannot issue a new certificate for these vehicles. Exported vehicles always require an individual operating permit from the local road traffic authority. As part of the registration procedure at the road traffic authority, an expert opinion from an officially recognized expert or an officially recognized expert from a technical service is usually required.
