not learned the Latin alphabet (secondary literacy course) People with an increased need for language support (support courses) People with disabilities (e.g. deaf people, visually impaired people)

- Intensive courses: These courses are suitable if you find language learning easy and want to and are able to achieve your course goal particularly quickly. An intensive course consists of 400 lessons in the language course and 30 lessons in the orientation course.

Integration courses are available as full-time and part-time courses.

Before you can take part in an integration course, you will need a certificate of eligibility. This is your participation permit with which you register with an integration course provider.

If you want to take part in the integration course voluntarily, you must first apply to the Federal Office for Migration and Refugees (BAMF). You will then receive a certificate of eligibility.

If you are entitled to take part in an integration course as a late repatriate or as a family member, you will receive the certificate of eligibility from the Federal Office of Administration (BVA).

Erforderliche Unterlagen

- Application for participation in the integration course (online or by post)
- Copy of passport or identity card
- Copy of the current residence permit

Voraussetzungen

You can apply for participation in the integration course

- if you are legally and permanently resident in Germany and
- if you have no or insufficient knowledge of the German language (below level B1 of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages)

Further requirements:

Modul

Sachverhalt

• You have one of the following residence permits: as a skilled worker as a researcher as a self-employed person or self-employed person for the purpose of family reunification as a person entitled to asylum (on humanitarian grounds), a person entitled to subsidiary protection, a recognized refugee or a recognized refugee as a long-term resident in another member state of the European Union as an immigrant residing for reasons of special political interest, e.g. Jewish immigrant, humanitarian admission program and

• Your stay in Germany is permanent. This is the case if you have a residence permit for at least one year or have held a residence permit for more than 18 months, unless your stay is of a temporary nature.

If you do not fall into one of the above groups, you can apply to attend an integration course if you

- have a permanent and legal residence permit (for example as a citizen of the European Union or as a family member) and
- do not have sufficient German language skills.

In this case, admission is possible as long as course places are available.

If you have German citizenship, you can also apply to take part in an integration course if you

- do not have sufficient knowledge of the German language and
- are in particular need of integration.

You can already be admitted to an integration course during an ongoing asylum procedure if you

- have a residence permit and
- have not yet applied for asylum in another member state of the European Union or are not obliged to do so.

You can also be admitted to the course

Modul

Sachverhalt

- if you have a tolerated stay permit because: urgent humanitarian or personal reasons or significant public interests require your continued temporary presence in Germany.
- if you have a residence permit because your departure is impossible for legal or factual reasons and you are prevented from leaving the country through no fault of your own.

Note: Admission is not possible:

- if there is a recognizably low need for integration,
- if you already have sufficient knowledge of the German language,
- if you are subject to compulsory education,
- if you are a young adult or young adult starting a school education or continuing your school career in Germany.

Kosten

- Own contribution per lesson (45 minutes) from 01.08.2022: EUR 2.29
- Total cost contribution for the general integration course EUR 1,603
- Total cost contribution for special courses, e.g. literacy course with 1,000 teaching units plus the option to repeat 300 teaching units: EUR 2,977 in total

Note: You can apply for a cost contribution exemption.

If you do not receive a cost exemption, you can apply to the Federal Office for Migration and Refugees (BAMF) for a refund of 50 percent of your cost contribution. To do so, you must provide proof of successful participation in the integration course within 2 years of receiving your entitlement to participate: Passing the German Test for Immigrants (DTZ) and the "Living in Germany" test.
