Teaser	If you would like to apply for funding from the German Federal Film Board (FFA) for your cinema project, you may need to submit a provisional project certificate from the BAFA.
Volltext	If you are involved in the production and distribution of German theatrical films, you have the option of applying for funding assistance for your project from the German Federal Film Board (FFA). To do this, you may need a provisional project certificate in accordance with the FFG. You apply for the preliminary project certificate in good time, in the case of international co-productions or international co-financing at the latest two months before shooting begins, at the Federal Office of Economics and Export Control (BAFA) and submit it to the FFA with your application. The preliminary project certificate serves to confirm that your film project, if carried out as applied for, will meet the requirements of the FFG for recognition as a German film. The FFA decides whether and to what extent your film will be funded. Please note: The FFG applies exclusively to theatrical films. Therefore, project certificates are generally only issued for German theatrical films.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	• Annex "Cultural Criteria" or, if recognition under the
