Teaser	If your wife, husband, registered partner or parent has died, you can receive financial support from the statutory accident insurance.
Volltext	As a widow, widower, registered partner or orphan, you are entitled to a one-off survivor's allowance from the statutory accident insurance fund under certain conditions. The conditions include • the death must not be the result of an accident at work, commuting accident or occupational disease, • the deceased person must have received one or more pensions from the statutory accident insurance due to a reduction in earning capacity of at least 50 percent, • You are not entitled to a survivor's pension from the statutory accident insurance. The amount of the allowance is 40 percent of the annual salary on which the deceased person's pension was calculated. Instead of a one-off allowance, it is also possible to receive an ongoing allowance, i.e. longer-term, regular support.

Modul	Sachverhalt
