Teaser	Have you paid for the repatriation of a person insured under the statutory accident insurance scheme? Then you can recover the costs if the person died as a result of an insured event.
Volltext	In the event of accidents, insured persons under statutory accident insurance may die away from their place of residence. In the event of death as a result of an insured event under statutory accident insurance, the employers' liability insurance associations and accident insurance funds reimburse the costs of transporting the deceased to his or her former place of residence. Occupational, commuting and school accidents as well as recognized occupational diseases are considered insured events. If you have paid for such a repatriation, you will get your money back. The employers' liability insurance associations and accident insurance funds will check on their own initiative whether you are entitled to reimbursement. An application is therefore not necessary.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	• Proof of payment and amount of transfer costs (for example, the invoice).
Voraussetzungen	You will be reimbursed for repatriation costs if: • the death is the result of an insured event under statutory accident insurance,

Modul

Sachverhalt

- reimbursable repatriation costs have actually been incurred,
- the death did not occur at the place of the insured person's permanent family residence,
- the insured person was staying there for reasons connected with the insured activity or with the consequences of the insured event
- and you have paid the transportation costs.

Kosten
