Teaser	If your parent has died as a result of an insurance accident, you will receive an orphan's pension from the statutory accident insurance under certain conditions.
Volltext	The statutory accident insurance pays a half or full orphan's pension to the children of insured persons. You can receive this orphan's pension if your parent died as a result of an insured event. This includes accidents at work, accidents on the way to work and occupational diseases. It is not necessary to file an application. Natural children are entitled to the orphan's pension, as well as stepchildren, foster children, grandchildren and siblings under certain conditions. They receive the orphan's pension until they reach the age of 18. Under certain conditions, however, it can also be granted until the orphan reaches the age of 27. pension is 30 percent. You will receive the orphan's pension monthly.
It may be that other persons besides you are entitled to money from the statutory accident insurance, for example, your siblings or a widow or widower. In this case, the sum of the pensions may not exceed 80 percent of the deceased person's annual earnings. Your orphan's pension will be reduced proportionately in this case. If you are a foster child, the entitlement to an orphan's pension may be waived altogether.

Erforderliche Unterlagen

Depending on the case, different documents and information are required:

- Death certificate of the parent
- Birth certificate or certificate of descent
- Bank account details
  - Proof of step-childship or foster-childship or proof of adoption
  - Proof of education or training (for orphans over 18 years of age)
  - Death certificate of the 2nd parent (for orphans)
  - Certificate of survivorship from the statutory pension insurance (if already available, otherwise the pension insurance number)
  - Information on annual work earnings (in case of occupational accident with direct death)
- If applicable:

Voraussetzungen

You will receive the orphan's pension if the person died as a result of an insured event. This includes accidents at work, accidents on the way to work and occupational diseases.
You receive the orphan's pension as

- natural child,
- stepchild or foster child, if you lived in the household of the deceased person and were cared for and looked after there, and as a
- grandchild or sibling, if you lived in the deceased person's household and were cared for and looked after there.
- You may also receive the orphan's pension if the deceased person was mainly responsible for your living expenses.

Under these conditions, you will receive the orphan's pension even if you are 18 to under 27 years old:
