Teaser	If you handle explosive substances, you will need a certificate of competency.
Volltext	If you want to handle explosive substances for a company, you need a certificate of competence in accordance with § 20 of the Explosives Act. The certificate of competence is particularly necessary if you work as an explosive agent or pyrotechnician or in explosive ordnance clearance. Supervisors, in particular heads of an operations department, foremen, and warehouse managers, as well as persons who are appointed to bring explosive substances, to transfer them to others or to receive these substances from others, may only carry out their activities as responsible persons if they have a certificate of competence for the handling and/or traffic of explosive substances in accordance with the Explosives Act. The holder of a certificate of competency for the handling and/or circulation of explosive substances can only be a natural person.

Hinweise

If you carry out one of the following activities within the framework of your certificate of competency, you are obliged to regularly participate in state-approved refresher courses before the expiry of 5 years:

- execution of blasting work,
- production of explosive substances,
- activity in explosive ordnance disposal,
- transport of explosive substances in accordance with the regulations on dangerous goods,
- Burning of large fireworks,
- Demonstration of effects in theatres or similar establishments with pyrotechnic articles and sets
- Representation of effects in film and television production facilities with explosive substances

The certificate of competency entitles the holder to work for a company with a permit in accordance with § 7 of the Explosives Act. If the competent person wishes to be self-employed, an application for permission must be submitted in accordance with § 7 of the Explosives Act. Changes affecting the certificate shall be notified to the competent authority without delay.
