Teaser	If you would like to have a death abroad certified in Germany, you can apply to the competent authority.
Volltext	Duly issued death certificates from abroad are generally recognised in Germany. There is no obligation to re-notarize. However, the subsequent entry in the death register can be advantageous, because the local registry office can then issue you with a German death certificate. Any translations and certifications of the foreign death certificate will thus be omitted in the future.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	• foreign death certificate with translation, possibly with legalisation/apostille • Identity card or passport of the applicant (or a recognised replacement identity document) Documents of the deceased: • Proof of marital status (e.g. marriage certificate, divorce decree) • Birth certificate Was the deceased naturalised, entitled to asylum, stateless, homeless foreigner or refugee in addition: • Certificate of naturalisation or proof of special status In addition, the submission of further documents may be required – please inquire about this in advance at the registry office.
Voraussetzungen	The subsequent certification of the death is possible for:

	• German citizens • Stateless, homeless foreigners or foreign refugees habitually resident in Germany Eligible applicants are: • the children, • the parents, • the spouse or partner of the deceased person, and • the German mission abroad in whose jurisdiction the death occurred.
Kosten	For the certification of a death, fees of 47.00 euros are incurred, unless the municipality has set a different fee by statute; additional fees may apply.
Verfahrensablauf	Details on the modalities and the documents that the registry office requires from you in detail, please inquire there in advance by telephone. • Compile the necessary documents and visit the registry office. • The registrar checks whether certification by a German registry office is possible. • If the conditions are met, the entry in the death register can take place. If necessary, the registry office will issue you with a death certificate after registration has been completed.
