Teaser	Issuance of a residence permit to testify in criminal proceedings for trafficking in human beings
Volltext	You have been the victim of one of the criminal offences of trafficking in human beings for the purpose of sexual exploitation (§ 232 StGB), trafficking in human beings for the purpose of labour exploitation (§ 233 StGB) or promotion of human trafficking (§ 233a StGB). The public prosecutor's office or the criminal court considers your temporary presence to be appropriate for the conduct of the criminal proceedings. This is the case if, through your presence, you can help to clarify the facts of the crime. They are no longer allowed to maintain contact with the persons accused of having committed the trafficking offence in the criminal proceedings. You must declare your willingness to testify in the criminal proceedings for trafficking in human beings. It is not sufficient to invoke a right to refuse to testify or to provide information. You will not be granted a residence permit if it is foreseeable that your stay will be permanent. Your stay must not impair or endanger the interests of the Federal Republic of Germany for any other reason. In principle, you are entitled to a residence permit. You are still entitled to benefits under SGB II (basic provision for jobseekers) or basic security in old age or in the event of reduced earning capacity, child benefit. Family reunification for your spouse and the minor child (so-called nuclear family) is only possible for reasons of international law or humanitarian law or to safeguard the political interests of the Federal Republic of Germany. The family members must themselves meet the conditions for admission from abroad on international law or humanitarian grounds, The pursuit of gainful employment is not permitted. It can only be permitted by the Foreigners' Registration Office. You can only be admitted to an integration course if there are available course places.
