Sachverhalt

domestic residence

- Subsequent certification of a death occurred abroad of a German without residence in Germany in a German death register.
- Under certain conditions, the application for subsequent certification can be submitted to the competent German registry office.
- Fees are charged by the registry office.
- The subsequent certification is a prerequisite for the issuance of a German death certificate.
- Responsibility: competent German registry office

Ansprechpunkt

Zuständige Stelle

Responsible for certification is the registry office in whose jurisdiction the foreign-born person has his domicile or last had or has his habitual residence; if the deceased person had his last domicile or habitual residence in Germany, the registry office responsible for that place certifies the death. If there is no jurisdiction thereafter, the registry office certifies the civil status case in whose jurisdiction the applicant has his domicile or last had or has his habitual residence. If there is no jurisdiction thereafter, the Standesamt I in Berlin notarizes the civil status case.
