Teaser	Have you completed further training as a specialist abroad? Then you can apply for recognition as a specialist in Germany under certain conditions.
Volltext	The profession of specialist is regulated in Germany. This means that you need a permit if you want to use the title "specialist" for your specialization in the selected federal state. By training as a specialist, you have acquired a medical specialisation in addition to your qualification as a doctor abroad. To work as a doctor in Germany, you first need a license to practice medicine or a professional license. In order to be able to work as a specialist in Germany, you must also apply for recognition of your specialist training. This allows you to use the title "specialist" in your respective specialization. Note: You may only use the designation for your specialization if there is a corresponding continuing education title in Germany.

Association:

- First, submit your application and the required documents to the Medical Association of the federal state in which you would like to work.
- If necessary, you will be asked to submit missing documents.
- The automatic recognition procedure often applies. This means that your professional qualification will be recognised without an individual equivalence test.
- If you started your training before your country of training joined the EU/EEA, you must prove that your professional qualification meets the minimum standards of the EU ("certificate of conformity"). This is certified by the competent authority of your country of training. If your professional qualification does not meet the minimum standards, you must prove your professional experience. To do this, you must have worked in the profession in the country of origin for 3 years without interruption in the last 5 years prior to the application.
- If your professional qualification is not automatically recognised, your training will be reviewed individually. The competent authority will then check whether your professional qualification is equivalent. The professional qualification is equivalent if there are no significant differences between your foreign professional qualification and the German professional qualification.
- If your specialist qualification is recognised, you can work in the profession in Germany. You will receive a notification. If significant differences are detected, the equivalence of your specialist qualification will not be certified:
 - You will receive a justification.
 - You can take an aptitude test to prove the lack of knowledge.
 - If you successfully pass the aptitude test, you will receive the recognition. You may then use the title "specialist" for your specialization.

You can take legal action against the decision of the competent authority within a certain period of time (e.g. file an objection). The decision will then be reviewed. Details can be found in the information on
