bundled and simply. You only have to enter your details once and do not have to submit any further documents to the various authorities. With the ELFE online service, you can apply for all benefits at the same time or choose which of the 3 benefits you would like to apply for. The following benefits are available:

1. Determine the name of the newborn child and order birth certificates from the registry office.
2. Apply for child benefit at the family benefits office.
3. Apply for parental allowance at the parental allowance office:

With your consent, the relevant offices will exchange birth data electronically with each other. At the same time, you can agree to your salary data being automatically retrieved by your employer and transmitted to the relevant parental allowance office via the pension insurance data office. This means that you do not have to send paper documents to the parental allowance office.

You do not have to use the online service. You can continue to submit all applications by post or in person at the competent authority. A combination of postal and personal submission and use of the online service is also possible.

Erforderliche Unterlagen

- ID card with eID function
- Proof of employment Confirmation from the employer regarding the use of parental leave or reduction in working hours
- Certificate of maternity pay
- Employer's statement for the calculation of the maternity benefit subsidy from the health insurance fund.

If you give your consent to electronic data retrieval and transmission from your employer to the parental allowance office and to the transmission of birth certificate data, you do not need any further documents.

If you do not give your consent, you will need the following additional documents:

Modul

Sachverhalt

• Birth certificate with reference to parental allowance
If you do not choose the name determination service, you must submit the original birth certificate to the parental allowance office. Copies or transmission by fax or as a scanned document by e-mail will not be accepted.

Voraussetzungen

- The application must be submitted by 2 married applicants at the same time.
- Identification with ID card with eID function, corresponding PIN and a USB card reader or an NFC-enabled smartphone.

Kosten

Costs are only incurred if additional birth certificates are ordered. Otherwise, there are no costs for using the online service.

Verfahrensablauf

You can apply for the combined family benefits at the same time or just selected individual services via the ELFE online service.

- To do this, use the online service ELFE - Simply benefits for parents
- After submitting the application from the online service, it is sent to the relevant specialist procedure of the responsible authority.

Bearbeitungsdauer

Time you need for the online services: Name determination: approx. 10 minutes
Application for child benefit: approx. 5 - 10 minutes
Application for parental allowance: approx. 25 - 35 minutes
The birth is certified by the relevant registry office and can take a few days. The child benefit application is checked and decided by the responsible family benefits office and usually only takes a few days. The parental allowance application is checked and decided by the responsible parental allowance office and can take several weeks.

Frist

The complete combined application can only be used within 28 days of birth. Deadlines for individual services: Name determination: must be made within 28 days of birth. Parental allowance: Benefits are granted from birth at the earliest and retroactively for a maximum of the last 3 months of life prior to the month of application. Child benefit: In principle, every
