Teaser	If you want to practice medicine in the field of physiotherapy, you must apply for a permit to do so.
Volltext	The granting of a licence to practise medicine, limited to the field of physiotherapy, is reserved exclusively for persons who are in possession of a licence to use the professional title of physiotherapist in accordance with the law on masseurs and physiotherapists. In order to decide on the granting of a licence to practise medicine professionally in the field of physiotherapy, all applications are first examined on the basis of the available files. First of all, the certificates submitted and any other evidence of completed courses of study and additional training are checked to determine whether and to what extent the limited alternative practitioner licence for physiotherapy can be granted according to the available files. It always depends on the possible individual circumstances.
