If you wish to marry abroad as a person with German citizenship and the foreign body of your marriage requires a certificate of no impediment to marriage, you can apply for a certificate of no impediment to marriage.

Volltext

If you wish to marry abroad as a German citizen, the conditions for marriage are determined by German law.

You can also apply for a German certificate of no impediment to marriage if you are a stateless person, homeless foreigner or foreign refugee within the meaning of the Convention relating to the Status of Refugees Habitually Resident in Germany and you need the certificate of no impediment to marriage abroad.

This regulation is intended to prevent the marriage from being recognised abroad, but not in Germany. Especially for possible future children, it is of great importance that a marriage concluded abroad is also recognized in the country of origin of the German parent.

Therefore, you must always submit a German certificate of no impediment to marriage at the foreign office of your marriage. This certificate of no impediment to marriage confirms that there is no impediment to marriage under German law.

If you have more than one nationality, the applicable law is the law of the country with which you have the closest connection.
