Hinweise

- The admission requirements of the desired degree programs must be taken into account.
 - It is important to adhere to the required form and deadline.
 - If you do not meet the required requirements for a degree program or do not comply with the required form and deadline, your application cannot be considered.
 - Incorrect information will lead to exclusion from the procedure.
 - In some cases, you can claim compensation for disadvantages or hardship when applying for a place on a degree course with restricted admission. This may result in an improvement in your grade or your waiting time. This can increase your chances of being admitted to the course. If you have the relevant evidence, such as a school report or medical certificate, you can submit an application to improve your grade or waiting time when you apply and submit it to the university of your choice. Please also submit the reports with your application.
