Volltext	Would you like to enroll your child at a secondary school? Find out more about this type of school here. You can enrol your child at a secondary school if they have successfully completed elementary school. The secondary school is a school of extended joint learning. It works with children and young people of all abilities and keeps career decisions open for as long as possible. Due to their special pedagogical concept, secondary schools are almost always tied all-day schools. Secondary schools cater for a wide range of life and career prospects: here, pupils are prepared for both vocational training and university entrance qualifications. Teaching in the secondary school is particularly committed to individual support. The secondary school comprises grades 5 to 10 of the lower secondary level. The secondary school does not have its own upper school. However, it offers the security of a predictable school career up to the Abitur through binding cooperation with the upper school of the Gymnasium, Gesamtschule or Berufskolleg. All lower secondary level qualifications that can also be obtained at the Hauptschule, Realschule,

Sachverhalt

Gesamtschule and Gymnasium can be obtained at the Sekundarschule:

- the Hauptschulabschluss
- the Hauptschulabschluss after grade 10
- the intermediate school leaving certificate (Fachoberschulreife) after year 10

The intermediate school leaving certificate (Fachoberschulreife) also entitles the holder to attend the upper secondary level of a grammar school, comprehensive school or corresponding full-time vocational college courses under certain conditions or with certain achievements. These requirements differ slightly depending on the organizational form of the secondary school.

The head teacher decides on admission to a secondary school.

Erforderliche Unterlagen
