Volltext	If you want to study at a university you need a higher education entrance qualification. You will receive this if you have completed your schooling with the following school-leaving qualification: • General higher education entrance qualification • Subject-specific higher education entrance qualification • Entrance qualification for universities of applied sciences • Or a previous qualification recognized by the Ministry. This is, for example, a passed master craftsman's certificate or advanced vocational training. If you did not obtain your higher education entrance qualification in Germany or at a German school abroad, you can use the admissions database of the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) to find out whether your certificate is eligible for admission sufficient for studying in Germany. If your certificate or your German language skills are not sufficient, you must first attend a preparatory college. There is currently a state preparatory college in Saxony-Anhalt with departments at Martin Luther University at Halle-Wittenberg and at the Anhalt University of Applied Sciences. There are also state-recognized private preparatory colleges. You can also study part-time. The requirements for this are determined by the universities.
