Teaser	If you are obliged to appoint a group money laundering officer, you must notify the supervisory authority in advance. You must also notify the supervisory authority if you wish to remove ("disengage") a group money laundering officer.
Volltext	If you are both an obliged entity and the parent company of a group in accordance with the German Money Laundering Act (GwG), you are obliged to appoint a group money laundering officer and a deputy. The supervisory authority must be notified in advance of the appointment and dismissal of the group anti-money laundering officer and his deputy. The anti-money laundering officer is responsible for drawing up a uniform group-wide strategy for the prevention of money laundering and terrorist financing and for coordinating and monitoring its implementation. The Group Money Laundering Officer does not replace any money laundering officers that may be required at the companies belonging to the group, but performs an additional function. The Group Money Laundering Officer must create binding cross-company procedures for the implementation of money laundering obligations in the branches, subsidiaries and group companies in Germany and abroad. He is authorized to issue instructions for their implementation. As part of his duties, the Group Money Laundering Officer must obtain information on an ongoing basis from the branches, subsidiaries and group companies in Germany and abroad about their compliance with money laundering obligations. Furthermore, he must satisfy himself at regular intervals - also through on-site visits - in particular that the obligations under money laundering law are being complied with and that the necessary measures are being taken and effectively implemented. If necessary, he must also take cross-company measures. The parent company must ensure that the Group Money Laundering Officer or employees appointed by him are authorized to obtain audit reports, if available, for all branches, subsidiaries and group companies in Germany and abroad. This authority also includes the unrestricted right to carry out spot checks as part of the aforementioned tasks. The parent company must also ensure that the Group Money Laundering Officer, the employees commissioned by the Group Money Laundering Officer and Group Internal Audit have group-wide access to all information, documents and files relevant to the fulfillment of money laundering obligations, in particular regarding all customers, beneficial owners and all business relationships and transactions within or outside such business relationships. The Group Money Laundering Officer must take precautions to protect personal data.
