Teaser	In general, all children and young people living in Saxony-Anhalt are required to attend school. However, there are exceptions that put compulsory schooling on hold.
Volltext	School attendance is compulsory for all children and young people living in Saxony-Anhalt. For children who reach the age of 6 by 30 June, it begins with the following school year and ends after 12 years. The statutory compulsory education of 12 years is fulfilled by attending a vocational school, unless a general education school is still attended. Compulsory schooling may be suspended under certain conditions.

Depending on the circumstances, please contact the school management or the State Education Office of Saxony-Anhalt.

Please contact the school management if you

- * are a mother or father and are prevented from caring for your child adequately by attending school,
- * participate in pre-vocational training measures or in an introductory qualification in accordance with the Third Social Security Code,
- * participate in voluntary service due to federal or state regulations,
- * attend a vocational school for health professions to which the Saxony-Anhalt School Act does not apply, or
- * In cases where other appropriate training or supervision appears to be assured.

Please contact the Landesschulamt Sachsen-Anhalt if you

- * your child is unable to attend school or attend special education for health reasons, or
- * You are enrolled at a university.
