permit. It entitles the holder to park in parking spaces for severely disabled persons (wheelchair symbol) in all EU member states and enables further concessions such as

- parking for up to three hours in restricted parking bans (signs 286, 290)
- parking in traffic-calmed areas under certain conditions
- parking in residents' car parks

"Orange Parking Permit" (Nationwide)

With the orange "Besonderer Parkausweis für besondere Gruppen schwerbehinderter Menschen", parking concessions such as the above examples also apply nationwide.

Please note! This permit does not entitle the holder to park in parking spaces for severely disabled persons (wheelchair symbol).

The yellow parking permit (which must be applied for additionally) can be used to authorise parking in individual, precisely defined parking spaces for the severely disabled in Saxony.

"Yellow Parking Permit" (Only in Saxony)

In the Free State of Saxony, there is also the yellow parking permit, which can be issued to a group of people who have more than the orange parking permit. It is only valid in Saxony.

This parking permit also allows parking concessions like the orange parking permit. The Verkehrsbehörde can also authorise parking in individual, precisely defined parking spaces for the severely disabled in Saxony.
