Health Act. These include:

- Dog and cat shows and similar events involving these animals if the exhibition or event is to take place in a district at risk of rabies Dogs and cats from EU member states or third countries participate
- Livestock shows, livestock markets or events of a similar nature "Livestock" in this sense means, for example, domestic animals of the species horse, donkey, cattle, sheep, goats, pigs, rabbits, many species of poultry, game birds and camelids

The conditions depend, among other things, on the type of event and the animals to be exhibited or offered. In the certificate of approval, which is issued by the locally responsible Food Control and Veterinary Office, the exhibition conditions are specified depending on the type of animal and the animal health situation.

Detailed information on your individual request can be obtained from the Single Point of Contact (for commercial requests) or directly from the locally competent Food Control and Veterinary Office.

Single point of contact (Einheitlicher Ansprechpartner)

For this procedure, you can make use of the service of the point of single contact. He or she will guide you through the procedure, take care of the correspondence with all the authorities responsible for your matter and act as a competent advisor.
