of patent attorney if the following points apply:

- You have acquired the technical qualification, i.e. you have
 - successfully completed a scientific or technical university degree, and
 - you have worked in a practical technical capacity for at least one year or can prove that you have acquired the required practical technical experience in another way.
- A scientific or technical university degree completed abroad also counts towards the qualification if it is recognised in Germany or is equivalent to the degree in Germany.
- You have passed the examination on the required legal knowledge.
- You have been trained by a patent attorney or a patent assessor. If you were trained with a patent attorney or patent assessor in a firm, you must also have worked for a patent attorney in a firm for at least six months.
- You have supplemented your training with studies in general law at a German university.

For more information on the patent attorney examination and details on the practical technical work required for qualification as a patent attorney and what is recognised as such, please visit the website of the German Patent and Trade Mark Office.

Admission to the patent attorney profession is refused in the following cases:

- You have forfeited a fundamental right according to the decision of the Federal Constitutional Court.
- You have been convicted of a criminal offence and are therefore not qualified to hold public office.
- You have been disqualified from practising as a patent attorney or from practising as a lawyer by a final judgement that was passed not more than eight years ago.
- A final decision has been taken against you in proceedings on a judge's charge for dismissal or in
