Volltext

If it is to be expected that children will not successfully participate in lessons due to their mental or physical developmental stage, the school management will inform the parents about the deferral of their child from school attendance and the reasons for this.

In principle, all children who are of compulsory school age and have the appropriate prerequisites should be enrolled in school. Individual educational offers in the school entrance phase, which take into account the respective prerequisites of the children, help to overcome possible initial difficulties. Deferral from school attendance should therefore only be the exception.

The year of deferral is not counted towards the duration of compulsory elementary school attendance (four years).
