If a burial is not possible within provided deadlines for understandable reasons, the responsible relatives or the undertaker must apply for an extension of the waiting period

The public order office can also apply for an extension of the waiting period, for example if it takes a long time to identify the relatives of a deceased person.

Applicable deadlines for burials

- Regular minimum waiting period: whether burial or cremation, the burial may take place at the earliest 48 hours after the death has been ascertained
- Longest regular waiting period: a burial or cremation must be completed within 8 days after the death has been ascertained

Caution The waiting period for burial is calculated from the date of the post-mortem examination, not from the date of death!
