Sachverhalt

- in areas that can be developed primarily with residential buildings in accordance with Section 30, 33 or 34 (2) BauGB, insofar as the properties are undeveloped, and
- in an area that is to be kept free of development for the purpose of preventive flood protection, in particular in floodplains

When exercising the special right of first refusal, the municipality may

- establish its right of first refusal to undeveloped properties within the scope of a development plan by means of a statute;
- in areas in which it is considering urban development measures, in order to ensure orderly urban development, designate areas by statute in which it has a right of first refusal to the properties.

Note: The right of first refusal may only be exercised by the municipality if this is justified by the public good. It may also do so in favour of third parties.

Kosten

The costs for a negative certificate vary from municipality to municipality. Please enquire locally.

Verfahrensablauf

The seller must inform the municipality of the content of the purchase agreement without delay. As a rule, this is done by the certifying notary.

If there is no right of first refusal or if it is not exercised, the municipality must issue a certificate immediately upon request. You need this so-called "negative certificate" so that the property can be transcribed in the land register. If the municipality wishes to exercise its right of first refusal, it will issue a corresponding notice to the seller.

Bearbeitungsdauer

Frist

Exercising the right of first refusal: within 3 months of receiving notification of the purchase agreement by issuing an administrative act
