Volltext	In certain cases, patent attorneys may only exercise their profession if they perform the tasks assigned to them on an honorary basis. This is the case if they • are used as judges or civil servants without being appointed for life, • are appointed to the service of a temporary soldier, or • are temporarily employed in the public service. The competent authority may, on application, appoint a representative for the patent attorney or allow him/her to exercise the profession him/herself if the interests of justice are not jeopardised thereby. Single point of contact For this procedure, you can use the services of the point of single contact. He/she will accompany you through the procedure, take care of the correspondence with all the authorities responsible for your matter and will be at your side as a competent advisor.
