Teaser	Third-country nationals who are family members of an EU or EEA citizen require a residence card for their further stay in Germany no later than three months after entering the country.
Volltext	As a third-country family member of a national of the European Union (EU) or of a state of the European Economic Area (EEA: Norway, Iceland and Liechtenstein), you have the right to move freely with your reference person in the European Union, to enter and reside in any member state, provided that the conditions under EU law are met. This also includes the free choice of residence in the member states of the European Union.

Third-country nationals are those who do not hold the citizenship of an EU member state, the EEA or Switzerland.

"Family members" are the following persons:

- Spouses, life partners and relatives in a straight descending line (e.g. children) as well as their spouses/life partners, provided they are not yet 21 years old, and
- Relatives of EU citizens entitled to freedom of movement in a straight ascending line and in a straight descending line (older children, grandchildren as well as parents and grandparents) or their spouses or life partners to whom the EU citizens or their spouses or life partners provide maintenance.

If the EU or EEA citizen studies in the federal territory, the group of family members entitled to join the family is limited to spouses and life partners as well as children who are granted maintenance.

If you are a third-country national family member, you will need a visa to enter Germany, unless entry can be visa-free.

During the first three months of your stay in Germany, your stay is subject only to the condition that you have a family relationship with the reference person entitled to freedom of movement, that you accompany this person and that you are in possession of a recognized or otherwise approved passport or passport substitute.

For a stay of more than three months, you need a residence card, which is issued to you by the Aliens' Registration Office ex officio and within six months.

In this case, the Aliens' Registration Office will check whether the conditions for freedom of movement have been met. Among other things, it can demand proof of the family relationship to the reference person (e.g. by documentary evidence). In addition, you may be required to provide proof that the reference person has actually made use of his/her right to freedom of movement (e.g. by submitting a registration certificate). If the reference person you are accompanying or joining is not gainfully employed, you should also be able to provide proof of sufficient means of subsistence and adequate health insurance coverage (this also applies to children who may be accompanying you). Proof of language skills is generally not required to obtain a residence card.

Until a decision is made on the issuance of the residence card, your stay in Germany is considered legal.

With the issuance of the residence card, the existence of the right to freedom of movement is established. The residence card is generally issued for five years, unless a shorter period results from the residence of your reference person from whom you derive your right of residence.

If you have not yet reached the age of 18, a person entitled to your personal care must consent to your planned stay in Germany.

Erforderliche Unterlagen

- Current biometric photo
- Consent of the person with parental authority to the planned stay, if you have not yet reached the age of 18.

The Aliens' Registration Office may require the presentation of the following documents:

- Recognized or otherwise approved valid passport or passport substitute.
- Proof of the existence of the family relationship with the reference person (e.g. marriage, birth certificate)
- Proof that the reference person has made use of his/her right to freedom of movement (e.g. registration certificate, employment contract or assurance of employment, trade license or proof of self-employment)

In the case of your recent entry, the Aliens Department may also require:

- Visa, if this was required for your entry.

When joining a reference person who is not gainfully employed, the Aliens Department may also require:

- Proof of sufficient means of subsistence
- Proof of sufficient health insurance coverage

In the case of joining a reference person who is studying, the Aliens Department may also require:

- Admission of the university or enrollment certificate of the reference person
- Proof of sufficient means of subsistence and health insurance

In individual cases, the Foreigners Authority may request further documents.

Voraussetzungen

- You are a family member of an EU or EEA citizen residing in Germany, but do not possess any of these nationalities yourself.
- You have a recognized or otherwise approved, valid passport or passport replacement and if this was required for entry - a visa.
- If required, you can provide the proof and documents mentioned under "Required documents".

Kosten

No fees are charged for the issuance of the visa.

Issue residence card: EUR 28,80

Modul

Sachverhalt

Issuance of residence card for persons under 24 years of age: EUR 22.80

Under certain conditions, a fee reduction or fee exemption may be considered.

Note: The fee for issuing the electronic residence permit (eAT card) is EUR 67.

Verfahrensablauf

Before entering Germany, you usually have to apply for a visa for Germany in your home country. After your entry, you can initially stay in Germany for three months without further requirements. For longer stays, you must apply for a residence card.

You can provide the information required to obtain a residence card when you register at the registration office. From there, your details will then be forwarded to the Aliens' Registration Office. In this case, you do not have to contact the Aliens' Registration Office again. They will contact you.

If you wish to receive the residence card at a later date (after three months at the latest), please contact the Aliens' Registration Office. For this purpose, information must be submitted to the Aliens' Registration Office responsible for your place of residence.

The procedure is as follows:

- Depending on the foreigners authority, it may be possible to receive your information via the Internet. Find out whether your foreigners authority offers electronic receipt.

In the case of electronic submission, the Foreigners' Registration Office will contact you after receiving your information in order to request additional documents, if necessary, and to arrange an appointment with you at the Foreigners' Registration Office. During the appointment, your documents will be reviewed (bring the originals with you to the appointment if requested).

- If submitting your information is only possible in person, make an appointment with the Aliens' Registration Office. During the appointment, your information will be received and your supporting documents will be checked (bring the originals to the appointment if you are asked to do so).
- Regardless of the result of the examination by the Foreigners' Registration Office, you will immediately receive a certificate stating that you have provided the necessary information for the issuance of the residence card in order to prove proper residence.
- Once the examination has been completed, you will be issued either a residence card or a rejection notice within six months.
- The residence card is usually issued for five years, unless a shorter period results from the residence of your reference person from whom you derive your right of residence.
- The residence card is issued in credit card format with additional electronic functions (eAT card). Your fingerprints will be taken at the Aliens' Registration Office. You will also have to provide a signature.
- After about six to eight weeks, you can pick up your eAT card at the Aliens' Registration Office. As a rule, you must pick it up in person.

There are fees for issuing the residence card and the eAT card. The timing and form of payment vary depending on the authority.

Bearbeitungsdauer

You can inquire about the processing time of the visa procedure at the German missions abroad at the mission responsible for you. The processing time for the issuance of a residence card is about six to eight weeks, but a maximum of six months.

Frist

- To obtain the residence card, the required information can be deposited with the registration office as part of the registration process or sent to the immigration office no later than three months after entry.
- The residence card is issued within six months
