Teaser	If you have German citizenship, are entitled to vote and are returning to Germany from abroad, you can have yourself entered on the electoral roll for the European elections if the requirements for registration are not met ex officio.
Volltext	If you have German citizenship and move back to Germany from abroad, you may not automatically be entered on the electoral roll for the European elections. This depends on when you re-registered in Germany after your return. If you did so after the 42nd day and before the 20th day before the election, you must apply in writing to be entered on the electoral roll.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	Declaration in lieu of an oath of eligibility to vote and declaration that no application for registration on the electoral roll has been submitted elsewhere
Voraussetzungen	You can register on the electoral roll as a German of full age or as a German of full age without the right to vote after your return from abroad for the European elections if you: • register in Germany after the 42nd day but before the 20th day before the election • return to Germany as a German citizen from a member state of the European Union, or
