Teaser	The old vehicle registration certificate is automatically exchanged for the new registration certificate Part I if it is lost.
Volltext	There is no general obligation to exchange the old vehicle registration certificate for the new registration certificate part I (ZB I). However, old and new documents may not coexist for a vehicle. In the event of an exchange, the old vehicle registration certificate is destroyed and replaced by the registration certificate Part I. If a new vehicle registration document has to be issued anyway, for example because it has been lost (regardless of whether the old vehicle registration document is still available), it is automatically exchanged. In this case, the old vehicle registration document must be presented to the registration office.

Informationen

Hinweise

The transfer of entries in the "Remarks" field of the previous vehicle registration certificate to the new ZB I sometimes causes problems. In principle, the new box 22 of the ZB I is used to transfer the entries from box 33 "Remarks" of the previous vehicle registration document. If there is not enough space there, a supplementary sheet is issued, sometimes also attached.

Check that all information has been transferred correctly when the new documents are issued and complain about any discrepancies as soon as possible.
