Teaser	After the death of the license holder of a restaurant, the restaurant may continue to be operated by certain persons without their own license.
Volltext	After the death of the license holder of a restaurant business, it may be continued by the spouse, partner or underage heirs during their minority without their own license. The same applies to executors, estate administrators or executors of wills for a period of ten years after the inheritance. They must immediately notify the competent authority in writing if they wish to continue the restaurant business and notify the competent municipality of the start of the business.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	• Chamber of Industry and Commerce certificate or proof of a professional qualification in a relevant profession, • Death certificate of the license holder. If the notification (in accordance with Section 14 of the Trade, Commerce and Industry Regulation Act) is made in person, the identity card or passport must be presented. If the notification is made by an authorized representative, a power of attorney must be presented.
