follow the instructions.

If you want to submit it in writing:

- Complete the relevant application form.
- Hand in the completed and signed application form to your lower hunting authority or send it by post.
- Enclose sufficient hunting liability insurance.

If you are applying for a hunting licence for the first time, you can - if you are not submitting the application by post or online - also appear in person at the relevant office.

The issuing authority will check your reliability and personal suitability under hunting law before issuing the hunting licence.

You can also submit the application through another person with a power of attorney. The authorised person must then present both your ID card and their own to the competent authority.
