Kosten

The amount of the costs for re-registration to the same holder depends on whether the administrative procedure is carried out on site or online. The costs for re-registration to the same holder may be supplemented by costs for special licence plates and registration documents.

Verfahrensablauf

You can apply for re-registration to the same holder on site at the vehicle registration office or online.

If you wish to apply for re-registration on site at the registration authority:

- You or your representative visit the registration authority during opening hours.
- You present the necessary documents on site.
- You can decide whether you want to continue using the vehicle's existing licence plate or whether you want to choose a new licence plate.
- If you want a new licence plate, you must also present the registration certificate part II (vehicle registration document) to the registration authority.
- The licensing authority will check the documents.
- After a successful check, the registration authority will issue a new registration certificate part I and hand it over to you together with the new stickers (main inspection and stamp sticker).
- If you have chosen a new licence plate number as part of the re-registration process, the registration authority will issue a new registration certificate Part II if necessary and hand it over to you.
- You pay the fees incurred for the re-registration at the licensing authority.
- The registration authority will then automatically inform your insurance company that the vehicle has been re-registered.

If you want to apply for re-registration online:

- You apply for re-registration online by going through the process step by step and entering the correct details.

- Legal entities require the BUND company account with ELSTER certificate.
- The online process must be completed with immediate payment via the respective payment service provider to which you will be automatically forwarded.
- The authorisation authority will check your entries.
- After successful verification, the registration authority will assign a licence plate number to your vehicle. You will receive a provisional registration certificate.
- The registration authority will prepare the registration documents and send them to you together with the stickers (main inspection and stamp sticker) within ten days. After receiving the documents, you immediately affix the stickers to the licence plate with the number plate allocated by the registration authority.
- Drive off immediately: You can download and print out the provisional registration certificate. This printout must be affixed to the vehicle behind the windscreen. If additional embossed licence plates with the number plate allocated to the vehicle are attached to the vehicle and the printed registration certificate is carried along, you can drive off immediately or take part in road traffic.

The registration authority will automatically inform your insurance company that the vehicle has been registered.
