Volltext	You have a temporary residence permit? After a certain period of time has elapsed, you can obtain a settlement permit that is not limited in time and space. In principle, every foreigner who has held a residence permit for five years can apply for a settlement permit. Spouses of German nationals can apply for a settlement permit after only three years if they have held a residence permit during this time and the marriage has existed in the Federal territory during this time. Holders of residence permits for humanitarian reasons can in principle apply for a settlement permit after 5 years. It must be taken into account that not all periods of residence can be counted towards the five-year period. With the settlement permit you are allowed to pursue gainful employment. It may only contain incidental provisions in exceptional cases (e.g. ban on political activity) and provides special protection against expulsion.
