Among other things, the benefits can help you to cope with the tasks of daily life. This includes the following areas, for example:

- Housing
- finances
- Household management
- Leisure activities
- Promotion of private contacts and hobbies
- Visits to public authorities (preparation and support), if not the task of a legal guardian
- Mobility
- Parenthood
- Support at school, university or for further training at work
- Support at the daycare center
- Aids
- Promoting communication
- Work

The benefits are individually tailored, i.e. they are based on the personal needs of the person entitled to benefits. They are subordinate to the benefits provided by other social benefit and rehabilitation providers (e.g. health insurance, pension insurance providers, the Federal Employment Agency, accident insurance providers).

At the request of those entitled to benefits, integration assistance benefits are also provided in the form of a personal budget, just like other social benefits. An inter-agency personal budget is also conceivable.

The costs for the services are borne by the responsible integration assistance provider. Your income or assets may be taken into account.

competent body will check whether and which benefits you will receive on the basis of the information you provide and the assessment of your needs. This also includes checking whether and to what extent your income and assets are taken into account and whether you may have to make a financial contribution to certain integration assistance services.

- Once your application has been reviewed, you will receive a decision.

Integration assistance benefits in accordance with Part 2 of SGB IX are only available for children, young people and young adults (up to the age of 21) with disabilities in the case of mental and physical disabilities and multiple disabilities.

For children, adolescents and young adults (in exceptional cases up to the age of 27) with a mental disability, integration assistance benefits in accordance with Book Eight of the German Social Code (SGB VIII), Section 35a SGB VIII, may be considered. In these cases, the responsible authorities are the youth welfare offices of the districts and independent cities.

Bearbeitungsdauer

The processing time for your application depends on various factors. Please contact your responsible integration assistance provider, who will be able to give you more detailed information on the duration of the procedure. The authority to which you have submitted your application must determine whether it is responsible for your application within two weeks of receiving it. If the authority is not responsible, it will forward your application to the competent authority without delay. You will be informed of the forwarding. If the authority does not forward your application, it must determine and provide your need for support as quickly as possible. If an expert opinion is required to determine your needs, the authority must make a decision within two weeks of receiving the expert opinion. If the authority is not required to obtain an expert opinion, it must make a decision within three weeks of receiving your application.
