storage facilities.

The permit also includes other official decisions relating to storage, in particular building regulations and permits in accordance with Section 4 of the Federal Immission Control Act. The content of the permit may be restricted and subject to conditions insofar as this is necessary, in particular to ensure precautions against risks to life, health and property. Subsequent amendments and additions to conditions are permitted.

The Federal Ministry of Labor and Social Affairs may determine by statutory order that certain explosive substances may be stored in whole or in limited quantities without a permit under specified conditions. The prerequisite is that the type, extent and duration of the hazards caused by this storage are compatible with the protection of employees or third parties.

Erforderliche Unterlagen

The following documents should be enclosed with the application for a storage permit stating the type and quantity of the explosive substances (storage group, compatibility group):

- Map with marked storage site
- Floor plan of the storage site with escape and rescue routes and storage area(s)
- Building description
- Fire protection concept in accordance with industrial construction guidelines with floor plan and location of safety equipment (such as extinguishing equipment)
- Concept for the prevention of incidents with safety management
- Details of the applicant's company, address and contact person

Hinweise

The 2nd Ordinance to the Explosives Act contains exceptions which, depending on the type and quantity of the substances, form the legal exemption from the licensing requirement.

Further information, in particular on storage group classifications, can also be found on the website of the Federal Institute for Materials Research and Testing (BAM) in Berlin.

Anyone wishing to operate a storage facility requires not only the facility-related permit but also

- a permit in accordance with §§ 7, 27 SprengG and
