Teaser	Are you a single parent and receive no/only partial maintenance from the other parent? The other parent is deceased and the half-orphan's pension is less than the maintenance advance amount? Then you can receive an advance on maintenance payments under certain conditions.
Volltext	You will receive an advance on maintenance payments for your child if he or she does not receive any or insufficient maintenance from the parent far from the family or does not receive any or insufficient half-orphan's pension. You must live in the same household as your child and be single, widowed, divorced or separated. Advance maintenance payments are paid for your child up to the age of 12, and in some circumstances even up to the age of 18. The prerequisite for this is that your child does not receive any benefits in accordance with SGB II, i.e. citizen's allowance, that the maintenance advance can be used to avoid a need for assistance within the meaning of SGB II (citizen's allowance) or that you earn an income within the meaning of § 11 SGB II in the gross amount of 600 euros.

The amount of the maintenance advance is based on the amount of the minimum maintenance, which is regulated in the Minimum Maintenance Ordinance. The minimum maintenance minus the child benefit of currently 250 euros equals the maintenance advance amount.

From 01.01.2024, the following amounts apply

- for children up to 5 years: EUR 230.00 per month
- for children from 6 to 11 years: EUR 301.00 per month
- for children from 12 to 17 years: EUR 395.00 per month

This ensures that all children receive advance maintenance payments if necessary. At the same time, an important incentive is created for households that are not in need of assistance or could become independent of basic security benefits through their own income from employment to secure their own livelihood.

The maintenance advance is always paid at the beginning of a calendar month and can be granted retroactively for one month under certain conditions.
