geprüfte Lebensmittelchemikerin/Staatlich geprüfter Lebensmittelchemiker", you need a state permit for this.

The additional qualification as "Staatlich geprüfte Lebensmittelchemikerin/Statlich geprüfter Lebensmittelchemiker" in addition to a completed degree in food chemistry must be proven for an activity in the official food monitoring and for the approval as a private counter-sample expert according to the Counter-Sample Regulation. Outside of these activities, the professional title "State-certified food chemist" is not required in all professional areas. For example, it may be possible to work in research institutes, industrial laboratories or consumer organizations without the aforementioned professional title if this meets the requirements profile demanded there. In these cases, it is possible to practice the profession with the academic degree "Diplom-Lebensmittelchemiker/in" or with an equivalent university degree. However, the professional title "State-certified food chemist" may not then be used.

If you have obtained your degree abroad and wish to use the professional title "Staatlich geprüfte Lebensmittelchemikerin/Staatlich geprüfter Lebensmittelchemiker", you can apply to have the equivalence of your degree with the German degree verified.

The competent body may also allow another form for the documents to be submitted.

Documents issued or recognized in an EU member state or another state party to the Agreement on the European Economic Area may also be submitted electronically as of January 18, 2016. In case of reasonable doubt as to the authenticity of the documents submitted and if absolutely necessary, the competent body may also require the submission of certified copies in this case.

Verfahrensablauf

In the procedure, your foreign professional qualification is compared with the professional qualification required by state law. The competent body checks whether there are significant differences between your foreign professional qualification and the German professional qualification. In addition to the training, your professional experience acquired in Germany or abroad may also be taken into account.

If the examination is positive, you will receive a certificate of equivalence when you are granted permission to use the professional title "State-certified food chemist".

If there are significant differences between your and the German reference qualification, you have the option of completing an adaptation measure (aptitude test or adaptation course) in order to achieve equivalence. The responsible office will inform you about the exact modalities.

The deadline may be reasonably extended once if this is justified by the specifics of the matter. The extension of the deadline is a maximum of one month if you have acquired your proof of education in a member state of the EU or a contracting state of the Agreement on the European Economic Area or in a state equated by agreement.
