development projects and measures and for shaping the consequences of demographic change (Regional Development and Demographic Change Guideline) supports regional development in Thuringia. Priority is given to areas with special development needs. Applications for funding can be submitted by administrative districts, municipalities or local associations. The financial framework for funding is between €10,000 and €200,000.

The following objectives must be met when applying for funding in funding areas A (classic regional development) and B (model projects) :

- Implementation of the objectives of the current Thuringian state development program and the corresponding regional plan
- Strengthening cooperation between local and regional stakeholders
- Stabilization, improvement and expansion of inter-municipal cooperation

Part C, on the other hand, focuses on ensuring socially equitable participation of regions affected by demographic change. Funding is therefore primarily provided for projects, measures and plans that contribute to actively and proactively shaping the consequences of demographic change in the Free State of Thuringia. The focus of the funding is on intergenerational exchange and strengthening the local sense of community.

Funding can be approved for projects in all regions of Thuringia. Applicants are usually districts, municipalities or local associations.

Part C: Funding projects and measures to shape the consequences of demographic change

In order to shape the consequences of demographic change, funding includes, among other things the implementation of utilization concepts for multifunctional or intergenerational infrastructure facilities; measures for the increased activation and further development of community-specific resources; measures that serve to maintain, activate and strengthen structures of civic engagement or to provide services at a location with simultaneous use by different target groups; measures to provide public and private services close to home and to ensure socially equitable participation as well as the development of concepts and analyses in the course of preparing or evaluating a project. Material and personnel expenses or expenses for construction, supplies and services resulting from projects in accordance with Part C are eligible for funding. Excluded from this are personnel expenses of the public administration.
