| Teaser                           | When you join or re-join a church, you are obliged topay church tax. The procedure for this is largelyautomated.   |
| Volltext                         | If you join or re-join a tax-levying religious community,you must pay church tax in accordance with the churchtax laws of the federal states, as a surcharge onincome or wage tax (Lohnkirchensteuer). The employermust therefore withhold not only the wage tax but alsoregularly the church tax from the employee's wagesand pay it to the tax office each time the wage is paid.The corresponding procedure for deducting the wagechurch tax is largely automated. Therefore, yougenerally do not have to do anything further afterdeclared entry to meet your church tax obligations.The religious communities themselves regulate howand to which office church membership is to bedeclared. Church membership is recorded by theregistration authorities of the federal states and canonly be changed by them. The tax authorities have noinfluence on this. This is important, for example, if theauthorities notify the Federal Central Tax Office (BZSt)of changes in church affiliation and the correspondingdate. The BZSt stores the electronic wage taxdeduction characteristics (ELStAM) in a database. Thestored data also includes characteristics for church taxdeduction. The BZSt makes the ELStAM available to theemployer for automated retrieval free of charge. TheELStAM are decisive for the withholding of church taxby the employer in the tax deduction procedure, i.e.the employer is bound by them and does not need tocheck the question of church tax liability. |
